MUDA to approve Layout Plans only

Will not provide Khata, Registration services: MUDA Commissioner A.N. Raghunandan

The Office of Town Planner Member at MUDA which is authorised to sanction Layout Plans.

Mysuru, Nov. 27 (RK&DM)- With the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) handing over residential Layouts developed by it and private developers to the respective Urban Local Bodies — Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), Hootagalli City Municipal Council (CMC) and Bogadi, Srirampura, Rammanahalli and Kadakola Town Panchayats (TPs) — it will only be a planning body from now on, with its powers limited to just approval of new Layout plans.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, MUDA Commissioner A.N. Raghunandan said that issuance of site records will be done only until the residential layouts are handed over to the respective Urban Local Bodies in full, after which the issuance will be stopped completely. After the handing over, the Urban Local Bodies will get the power for issuance of Khata, Khata transfer, Tax determination etc.

Raghunandan further said that the process of handing over of 17 residential layouts developed by MUDA years ago too has begun. The Government has been written a letter in this regard, he said adding that issuance of site records such as Khata, Kandaya etc., will be done by MUDA until then.

As per the Karnataka Urban Development Authorities Act and Karnataka Town and Country Planning Act, all Urban Development Authorities are authorised to issue only Plan Approvals and accordingly, no Khata and Kandaya registration is being done in any of the 32 Urban Development Authorities in the State.

These Urban Development Authorities have restricted themselves to Plan Approvals and all other services like issuance of site records (Khata registration etc.) are provided by the respective City Corporations and other Local Bodies, which are entrusted with the maintenance of layouts.

This apart, MUDA has also planned to hand over 700 other Layouts by Dec. 15.

Raghunandan

Recently, Mysuru Deputy Commissioner G. Lakshmikanth Reddy, who is also the MUDA Chairman, held a meeting with MUDA, MCC, CMC and TP officials on handing over MUDA and other privately developed layouts to the respective Urban Local Bodies, during which it came to be known that there were a total of 940 layouts, in which getting Khata, Kandaya, Plan approval and other land records for sites was challenging.

Reddy, after receiving inputs from the officials, had directed them to hand over the fully developed Layouts along with necessary infrastructure to the respective Urban Local Bodies.

Based on the DC's direction, the authorities are all set to hand over 240 fully developed Layouts to the respective Urban Local Bodies by tomorrow.

As preparations in this regard, MUDA Commissioner A.N. Raghunandan, who has written to the Government seeking approval along with NOC, is awaiting a nod.

Meanwhile, DC Lakshmikanth Reddy held discussions in this regard with senior officials of Urban Development and Municipal Administration Departments in Bengaluru yesterday.

Subsequently, the Government is expected to grant approval, following which 240 residential Layouts will be handed over to the respective Urban Local Bodies.

Also, the process of handing over 700 other residential Layouts to the respective Urban Local Bodies has gained momentum with the scrutiny of documents, records, maps etc., going on at a fast pace. These Layouts are expected to be handed over by Dec.15.

Pomeranian survives fall from 12th floor

Cali (Colombia): A fluffy Pomeranian dog is lucky to be alive after miraculously surviving a fall from the 12th floor of an apartment building in Cali, Colombia, onto the roof of an adjacent three-storey building.

On Nov. 19, a Colombian family experienced moments of terror after realizing that their pet Pomeranian was nowhere to be found in their 12th-floor apartment in the city of Cali. They looked everywhere for him and when it became clear that he was not in the house, they decided to check the windows, and that's when they spotted a small hole in the roof of an adjacent building, three floors below. Using a pair of binoculars, the desperate dog's owners could spot their beloved Paris through the small hole. The floor that Paris had been spotted was locked, so his owners immediately called the local fire department to have the pooch rescued. Miraculously, he was found alive and well, with no scratch on him.

Man fakes death, elopes to Eastern Europe

Wisconsin: A man who had been missing since August after going kayaking on Green Lake recently confessed of faking his death and moving to Eastern Europe.

On Aug. 12, Watertown, Wisconsin, was shattered by the disappearance of Ryan Borgwardt, a 44-year-old husband and father of three. He had gone on a kayaking trip but disappeared completely. His capsized kayak and his vehicle and trailer in a nearby park, suggested that he had drowned. A day later, local fishermen found his fishing rod and his belongings. But local law enforcement found evidence that suggested Ryan had crossed into Canada and border authorities there confirmed that they had indeed run his passport a day after his disappearance. It was this discovery that led to the uncovering of Borgwardt's plan to fake his death and leave his family behind.

Urgent need for cloverleaf junction near APMC Yard

Sir,

The junction of Ring Road and Ooty Road near the APMC Yard urgently requires an overpass, ideally a cloverleaf junction, to address the escalating traffic congestion at this critical point.

For nearly a year now, this junction has become a major bottleneck for vehicles entering and exiting the city via this National Highway (NH).

Every morning and evening, 1-2 km long traffic snarls plague both sides of this signal on the NH, contributing to increased air pollution and significant delays. With the Mysuru-Nanjangud corridor rapidly evolving into an industrial hub, housing numerous new manufacturing and logistics facilities each year, the situation is bound to worsen.

Additionally, large educational institutions are emerging along this stretch, and the airport is poised for expansion into a full-fledged facility.

These developments will further exacerbate the congestion at this junction within a few years if the authorities fail to take immediate and decisive action while the problem remains manageable.

A cloverleaf junction seems to be the most effective solution, ensuring seamless traffic flow in all directions. In contrast, a simple flyover, like the one at the Hinkal-Hunsur Road junction, would only offer a temporary fix, likely requiring an overhaul within 5-6 years.

18 from Belagavi School injured in Mysuru accident

16 students, 2 teachers hurt as NWKRTC bus overturns after ramming a road divider near Fountain Circle; they had arrived on a tour on Monday night

NWKRTC bus which overturned after hitting a road divider near Fountain Circle on Mysuru-Bengaluru Road in city last night. Picture right shows the bus being lifted with the help of a crane before being shifted to KSRTC depot in Bannimantap.

Mysuru, Nov. 27 (SBD,RK& BS)- As many as 18 people including 16 students, who had come on a tour from Belagavi district, suffered injuries after a North Western Karnataka Road Transport Corporation (NWKRTC) bus they were travelling in, overturned near Fountain Circle on Mysuru-Bengaluru Road in city on Tuesday night.

Those injured are being treated at Avant BKG Hospitals near Bogadi Outer-Ring Road (ORR) Junction and some among them have been discharged and shifted to the hotel, where they are accommodated, it is learnt.

The accident occurred as the bus driver reportedly lost control over the steering and rammed into the road divider, while proceeding towards LIC Divisional Office Circle from Fountain Circle. A wheel of the bus drove over the road divider and hit the light pole installed on the median, before tilting aside, it is said.

Those injured were the students of Shantiniketan Public School, Khanapur in Belagavi. Fortunately, they escaped with minor injuries, as no other vehicles were passing through when the accident took place, according to an eyewitness account.

The students had come on an excursion in two buses on Monday night. On Tuesday morning, they visited tourist spots here and were returning to a hotel in Bannimantap, where they had been put up, when the accident occurred at around 7.30 pm.

Narasimharaja (NR) Traffic Police who rushed to the spot, swung into action and regulated the movement of traffic from LIC Circle towards Fountain Circle.

They shifted the injured children to hospital and lifted the bus with the help of a crane and shifted it to KSRTC Depot in Bannimantap.

City Police Commissioner Seema Latkar, who visited the spot, said: "A total of 35 students were on school excursion in a bus that overturned. They are being treated at various hospitals in the city."

While ACP (Traffic) Parashuramappa, NR Traffic Police Inspector Rekhabai, NR Police Inspector M.N. Lakshmikanth Talawar and the Sub-Inspectors, camped on the spot and oversaw the clearance of the light pole and restoration of the cable, with the help of Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) Limited personnel.

KSRTC Divisional Controller (Rural) B. Srinivas, Divisional Traffic Officer Dinesh, Bus Stand In-charge Hemanth Kumar and other officers supervised the shifting of the bus that met with the accident, to Bannimantap depot.

Unscientific Divider

Following the accident involving a NWKRTC bus, there are mixed versions about the reasons behind the same.

The general version is the reckless driving and another is the unscientific road divider, as attributed by the public, causing frequent accidents.

After passing through Fountain Circle towards LIC Office Circle, the divider is merely half-feet above the road level. As the road winds through, the height of the concrete divider has been increased, but without any reflector to caution the vehicular riders. It leads to accidents at times, for the divider going unnoticed by the vehicle riders. Though the accident that occurred yesterday appears big, fortunately none of those travelling in the bus suffered grievous injuries.

Learning a lesson, the City Police should take corrective steps at least now, to check the recurrence of accidents in the future, appeal the public.

They raised slogans like "Buddha Dhamma is ours' and 'Bodh Gaya is ours' during the rally.

A memorandum addressed to the Chief Minister and Prime Minister was submitted to Additional Deputy Commissioner.

Former Mayor Purushotham said, as per The Bodh Gaya Temple Act 1949, Buddhists are forbidden from holding the power to manage Bodh Gaya. Hence, the management of Bodh Gaya rests with Hindus. It amounts to cheating the followers of Buddhism and Ambedkar followers. The Bodh Gaya Temple (BT) Act 1949 should be abolished to pave way for the implementation of Sections 3, 26 and 25 that provides freedom for Buddhists to manage the religious shrines.

Writer Prof. K.S. Bhagwan said, Ambedkar gifted the Constitution to build the new nation and showed the path of Buddhism for the inhabitants of the land. However, it is condemnable that the priestly class and Brahmins were managing Bodh Gaya.

He was speaking at function organised by the Department of Social Welfare at Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Bhavan to commemorate the 75th Constitution Day celebrations.

"On this day, 75 years ago India accepted the Constitution prepared by a committee headed by Dr. B.R. Ambedkar as a result of which we celebrate Nov. 26 as the Constitution Day in our country. Central and State Governments as well as local bodies must function as per the aspirations of the Constitution. We will be completing 75 years of adopting the Indian Constitution during January next year.

Foster Parenting: Take a Child Home

The foster care system in India is still underdeveloped and unstructured as it lacks a centralised framework and continuous monitoring to prevent abuse. India has a lot of scope but due to misinformation and lack of awareness, foster parenting has not taken off. Here we publish an article on foster care and the children available for foster care at Bapuji Children's Home in Mysuru. —Ed

By Sujata Rajpal

Actress Marilyn Monroe, musician John Lennon, former CEO of Apple Steve Jobs, singer Cher, actress Samantha Morton, singer Seal... What is common between these names?

Sujata Rajpal

Besides being highly successful in their respective fields, the other significant fact which binds these celebrities is their experience of being raised in foster homes.

Some enjoyed supportive foster environments while others faced challenges. Nevertheless each person's foster care experience profoundly shaped their lives.

This journey instilled resilience and determination, contributing to their achievements. Many a movies (such as Mrs. Chatterjee Vs Norway) have been produced and books written on foster care system though these primarily portray foster care in bad light. The concept of foster care has its origin in many places and times such as early Christian church records. In Japan, parents would send their children to farm families to learn farming and make a livelihood.

Foster care scenario in India

When Mrs. and Mr. Bishnoi*, lost their only child to dengue, on a friend's advice, this couple from Orissa, brought home 8- year-old twins from a Children's Home who once again filled their home and heart with love and joy. The Bishnoi couple became so attached to the children that they adopted them. After two years in foster care, the children are eligible to be adopted by their foster parents. But such cases are rare due to lack of awareness and societal compulsions.

In India, traditional foster family structures often meant that children were sometimes raised by uncles, aunts or grandparents when their biological parents could not care for them due to financial or personal issues.

In western countries, children are usually placed in foster homes for better care when their biological parents are unable to raise them well. In contrast, formal foster care in India is a relatively recent concept, often misunderstood.

Conventionally, Indian parents believe in permanency which foster parenting fails to provide. Foster parenting ends at the age of eighteen and the children can be taken away by their biological parents anytime. Another, foster parents can't give their name to their children.

According to CARA (Central Adoption Resource Authority), the nodal agency for adoption in India, there are 34,988 prospective parents registered for adoption but only 2,159 children are eligible for adoption; the rest who are either not legally fit to be adopted or have low chances of adoption, spend their entire childhood languishing in institutes, longing for a family to take them home. It's this pool of children who can potentially be put up for fostering. Rightly said, even the best institutions can't replace the warmth of a loving family.

India has a lot of scope but due to misinformation and lack of awareness, foster parenting has not taken off.

Unlike the lengthy and emotionally exhaustive adoption process, foster care can provide immediate stability and support to the children while giving immense satisfaction and joy for the foster parents.

The foster care system in India is still underdeveloped and unstructured as it lacks a centralised framework and continuous monitoring to prevent abuse. The government is increasingly recognising the importance of family-based care over institutionalisation by providing financial assistance to fostering families to support the upbringing of foster children. New revised model attempts to facilitate and streamline foster parenting in India. With concerted efforts, the foster care system can evolve into a robust option for nurturing vulnerable children.

Difference between adoption and foster care

Adoption is permanent whereas foster care is temporary. In foster care, a child is temporarily placed in a foster home for better care and upbringing because the child's biological parents are not able to give a normal home to the child. The legal responsibility remains with the council, social worker or the biological parents.

In adoption, the adopted parents are legally responsible for the child and the child becomes a permanent part of the adoptive family.

Ideally, foster care is a win-win for both children and their foster parents. For children, it offers an opportunity for a near-normal childhood, access to education, and resources that have been denied to them due to their unfortunate circumstances. For foster parents, it provides the joy of nurturing and influencing young minds while allowing for a commitment that doesn't necessarily last a lifetime. Foster parenting is also a litmus test for the parents to know if they are mentally ready to adopt a child

What the law says

The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 (JJ Act) established the foster care system in India's juvenile justice system. The JJ Act was amended in 2015 and 2021, and the guidelines for foster care were revised in 2022. According to the revised guidelines, anyone can foster a child, regardless of marital status or whether they have biological children.

A foster parent is eligible to adopt the child after two years in foster care. Children over the age of six living in child care institutions or having 'unfit guardians' can be fostered.

NOTE: Bapuji Children's Home in Gokulam currently has 3 girl children, aged 10, for foster care. After two years, the foster children are eligible to be adopted by foster parents. Interested may contact Mrs. Nanda on Mob:99453-73076.

But as an exemption, the MUDA, apart from granting Plan Approvals, had indulged in issuing Khata, registration of sites, Khata transfer, Pouthi Khate, Revenue collection, CRs (Completion Report) and other records in respect of sites, since 1980.

Erstwhile Mysore ruler Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar, in order to ensure planned development of Mysuru city, had established City Improvement Trust Board (CITB) decades ago for distribution of sites and houses for the shelterless.

The CITB, which used to form Layouts in keeping with the aspirations of the Maharajas, later was converted as Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) in the late 1980s. Though MUDA has been doing the job of Urban Local Bodies as per the Urban Development Authorities Act, at the same time, it also engaged in collection of Revenue, Property Tax etc.

Despite this, the MUDA had no infrastructure for providing basic amenities such as drinking water, power and also for maintenance of parks etc. As such, it became inevitable for the MCC to maintain the layouts.

But, as both the MUDA and the MCC failed in providing basic amenities in some of the recently formed Layouts, the residents of these layouts were left a severely inconvenienced lot.

Now with MUDA handing over these localities to the respective Urban Local Bodies of the city, the residents can expect their local bodies to properly maintain the localities with funds generated from revenue collection.

Indian Rock Python rescued by Snake Shyam at Vijayanagar

Mysuru, Nov. 27 (KS)- City's snake rescuer and wildlife conservationist Snake Shyam and his son Surya Keerthi have rescued an Indian Rock Python at Vijayanagar in city yesterday night.

Residents who saw the python at Sanjeevaiah Memorial Charitable Trust premises in Vijayanagar informed Shyam at about 8 pm, who reached the spot at around 8.30 pm, saw the huge python crossing the road and rescued it.

Shyam said that the python was about 8 ft. to 9 ft. long and may have swept away in the drains during rains from nearby forests and entered into human habitat.

He further said that under the guidance and presence of Forest Department officials, the snake was released into its natural habitat.

Snakes are not like mammals that go into a deep, prolonged sleep during the winter. Instead, they enter a state known as brumation. Brumation is a fascinating adaptation that allows snakes to conserve energy during the winter months. Brumation is akin to hibernation in mammals. Instead of experiencing long, sustained periods of inactivity, brumating reptiles stir occasionally to drink water, Shyam said.

Shyam said that python almost resembles a viper. While pythons are constrictors and non-venomous, viper snake is highly venomous containing hemotoxic venom and added that there are instances of people mistaking a viper as python and getting bitten by it when they try to catch the snake.

He has urged people not to go near any snake if they cannot identify them besides asking them to call Mob: 99805-57797, if they come across snakes in their locality and keep a watch on it till the snake rescuer arrives.

Mysuru, Nov. 27 (BLU&KS)- The officials of the Department of Food Safety & Quality Assurance have begun distribution of licence to roadside vendors selling fruits and vegetables in city.

The licence is being distributed free of cost after collecting details of Aadhaar card and other documents of the vendors.

The licence has been provided to fruits and vegetable vendors on M.G. Road who had given the details and process is underway to provide the licence to other vendors there.

Yesterday, the process of providing licence began at Hebbal Market and within a week, licence will be provided to every vendor here, said Food Safety & Quality Assurance Designated Officer Dr. S.L. Ravindra.

Dr. Ravindra said that roadside vendors, numbering over 300, on Sayyaji Rao Road and near K.R. Hospital are not showing any interest to obtain the licence despite convincing them and added that in a few days, the process of providing licence to all roadside vendors in city will be completed.

People have more faith in officials than netas: Chamarajanagar DC

Mysuru, Nov. 27 (BLU&BS)- Chamarajanagar Deputy Commissioner Shilpa Nag observed that, the people have more confidence in officials than politicians.

She was addressing the gathering after inaugurating the training camp for competitive exams organised by KSOU Competitive Examination Coaching Centre in the city yesterday.

DC Shilpa Nag said, "the people have a feeling of respect towards officials and hence we should discharge our duties honestly to gain their confidence. However, on the flip side, the people do speak about the privileges the officials enjoy for they travel in Air Conditioned (AC) cars and have built a house of their own. But they are not aware about the stressful working condition faced by the officials."

"I have been dealing with tremendous pressure in Chamarajanagar district, where I am currently posted as DC. People from various nook and corner of the district come to visit me. Though I refer them to Additional Deputy Commissioner (ADC), they prefer to ignore the advise and insist on meeting me, due to the level of faith they have in me. Hence, we should work towards retaining their faith and respect," said DC Shilpa Nag.

"The general tendency among the people is to criticise all the matters, when they are outside the system. It is natural to blame the local body at the sight of garbage littered on the road. We also vent anguish against the Government for the unkempt road. But, when we are within the system, we should not forget our responsibilities and try to find solutions towards redressing the grievances, taking a cue from our own experience, said Shilpa Nag.

She advised the aspirants of competitive exams to keep their social concern intact even after being appointed to the service.

Mysuru Additional DC Dr. P. Shivaraju, KSOU Vice-Chancellor Prof. Sharanappa V. Halse, Registrar Prof. K.B. Praveena, KSOU Competitive Examination Coaching Centre Co-ordinator Jainahalli Sathyanarayan Gowda and others were present.

Mobile phones have disrupted decades of social order: Pranesh

Mysuru, Nov. 27 (SPN&DM)- Popular stand-up comedian Gangavathi Pranesh expressed concern over the social impact of mobile phones, stating that they have drastically altered the social fabric that prevailed for decades. He lamented that even long-standing neighbours no longer communicate with each other.

Pranesh was speaking at a humour talk show held as part of the monthly cultural programme jointly organised by Srikrishna Trust and Srikrishna Mitramandali at Srikrishnadhama, Saraswathipuram, recently.

"Mobile phones provide us with any information we desire, but they have hindered our inherent skills and memory power," Pranesh remarked. He added that the rise of mobile phone technology has led to a decline in reading habits among youth, with cultural, literary and musical programmes struggling to attract audiences.

Highlighting the shift in interests, he said, "Today, only middle-aged and elderly people attend Harikathas, humour shows and spiritual talks, while the youths remain engrossed in their cell phones."

He opined that the obsession with mobile devices is causing younger generations to lose touch with the nation's rich cultural and traditional heritage. Pranesh cautioned that excessive mobile phone usage could lead to future health problems and urged students to develop a passion for reading books and focus on their studies.

Reflecting on his interaction with the late Udupi Pejawar Mutt Seer, Sri Vishwesha Teertha Swamiji, Pranesh described him as a man of extraordinary memory and wisdom, leaving a lasting impression on him.

The event was attended by Krishna Trust Vice-President P.S. Shekar, Secretary K.V. Sridhar, Mitramandali Vice-President Gopalakrishna, Secretary Raghavendra Prasad and other dignitaries, including Srivatsa and Mangala.

WORD OF THE DAY

Tenacious

Pronunciation: tuh-NAY-shus (adjective).

Meaning: Something described as tenacious cannot easily be stopped or pulled part; in other words, it is firm or strong. Tenacious can also describe something — such as a myth — that continues or persists for a long time, or someone who is determined to do something.

Origin: For the more than 400 years that tenacious has been a part of the English language, it has adhered closely to its Latin antecedent: tenāx, an adjective meaning "holding fast," "clinging," or "persistent." Almost from the first, tenacious could suggest either literal adhesion or figurative stick-to-itiveness. Sandburs are tenacious, and so are athletes who don't let defeat get them down. We use tenacious of a good memory, too—one that has a better than average capacity to hold information. But you can also have too much of a good thing: the addition in Latin of the prefix per- ("thoroughly") to tenāx led to the English word pertinacious, meaning "perversely persistent." You might use pertinacious for the likes of rumors and spam calls, for example.

Example: "I put up a nesting box three years ago and nailed it to an oak tree. Beth and Fiona told me the next box location was ideal: seven feet up, out of view of walkways and within three feet of lower branches of a tenacious old fuchsia tree." — Amy Tan, The Backyard Bird Chronicles, 2024.

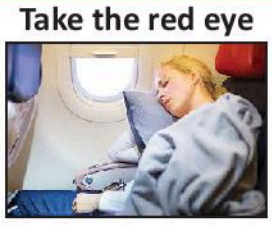
THE ODD WORD

Tampion

Protective plug placed in mouth of gun or cannon.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Take the red eye



Meaning: The phrase 'Take the red eye' refers to a late night flight that arrives early in the morning.

Origin: While the term 'red-eye' as a noun indicating that whiskey was raw or inferior dates back to 1819 America, origin of phrase 'red eye' in association with an airline flight that takes place overnight depriving passengers of sleep is much newer. It was first heard in the United States in 1968.

Example: "I took the red eye from California to New York last night and now I am exhausted."
